FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

PENGUIN GROUP DELIVERS STRONG RESULTS IN 2006

New York, New York, February 26, 2007 … Penguin Group [all companies around the world, including DK] today reported its operating results for the year ending December 31, 2006. Underlying sales were up 3 percent, while underlying operating profits were up 22 percent, compared with the previous year, despite the failure of a major U.S. distributor. Penguin Group’s profitability was raised due to investments in key publishing programs, digital opportunities, emerging markets as well as operations/back-office efficiencies. The company’s higher backlist sales, a reduction in overall returns, tight control of working capital and seamless supply chain performance also contributed to the increase in profitability. Penguin Group is part of Pearson (FTSE: PSON; NYSE: PSO), the international media company.

In 2006, Penguin Group (USA):

- Achieved Record New York Times Bestseller Performance
- Achieved Growth in Core Imprints
- Achieved Strong Paperback Sales: Trade and Mass Market
- Achieved Strong Trade Paperback Sales with Three Multi-Million-Copy Trade Paperback Bestsellers
- Achieved Growth in the Premium Paperback Format, Contributing to Increased Mass Market Profitability
- Achieved Lower Returns
- Achieved Backlist Growth
- Published a Pulitzer Prize Winner as well as a Winner of a National Book Critics Circle Award, the Orange Prize and Other Prestigious Awards
- Grew New Hardcover Bestsellers by Building Authors first in Mass Market Format
- Continued to Dominate Paranormal Fiction
- Increased Audio Sales

Globally in 2006, Penguin delivered strong performances and achieved very good growth throughout the Group. In addition to the strong results delivered in the U.S., outstanding performances were also attained in the UK, Australia and Canada as well as DK. Penguin Group also expanded its leadership positions in emerging markets such as India, China and South Africa.

Looking ahead to 2007: Penguin Group will continue to actively pursue digital initiatives. Penguin Group (USA) is publishing internationally renowned authors whose new books are expected to be among the most highly anticipated titles of the year.

David Shanks, CEO, Penguin Group (USA), commented, “Despite ongoing U.S. marketplace challenges, in 2006 we achieved strong performances across the corporation that exceeded our targets for the year. We continued to leverage and build on our key strengths, resulting in a record number of New York Times bestsellers, core imprint growth, new multi-million-copy bestsellers, very good mass market growth, and the winning of some of the top awards in our industry.

“Looking at 2007, we are off to a strong start, and very excited about the quality and depth of our upcoming list, led by some of the most prestigious and important book launches in our industry, including The Age of Turbulence by former Federal Reserve Chairman Alan Greenspan, A Thousand Splendid Suns by The Kite Runner author Khaled Hosseini, The Assault on Reason by former Vice President Al Gore, and Book of the Dead, a new book from #1 New York Times bestselling author Patricia Cornwell.”

John Makinson, Chairman and CEO of Penguin Group, stated, “These excellent results reflect outstanding contributions from every corner of our company. In 2006 we published more bestsellers than ever before, carried home the world's most prestigious literary prizes, and reinvigorated the heart of our backlist – Penguin Classics. Our underlying profits increased by almost a quarter, tangible reward for a company-wide focus on margin improvement and cash generation. We continue to extend our leadership positions in emerging markets and are implementing a digital strategy that will help us take full advantage of a market brimming with challenge and opportunity. We are confident of continued profit growth in 2007.”

Achieved Record New York Times Bestseller Performance

The year 2006 was one of excellent all-around publishing at Penguin Group. This was demonstrated by a record number of bestsellers achieved, by the number of “make” books, and by the literary, design, and recording awards our books garnered.

Penguin Group (USA) placed a record 139 books on The New York Times bestseller list in 2006 (surpassing 2005’s full-year number, 129, by ten). Also, Penguin Group (USA)’s bestsellers had more staying power than ever before in 2006, with a total of 809 overall weeks (up 119 weeks over 2005’s full-year total of 690).

Among Penguin Group (USA)’s many bestsellers were books that contributed to the national conversation about key issues and policy, including Fiasco by Thomas E. Ricks (The Penguin Press) (in Congressional hearings), Game of Shadows by Mark Fainaru-Wada and Lance Williams (Gotham) (on the cover of The New York Times and in the courts) and The Omnivore’s Dilemma by Michael Pollan (The Penguin Press) (in the halls of corporate America).

Achieved Growth in Core Imprints

In 2006, when the overall U.S. retail consumer book publishing marketplace growth rate was down nearly 3 percent [according to the U.S. Census Bureau], Penguin Group (USA)’s performance was up. G. P. Putnam’s Sons, Viking, Dutton, and Penguin Classics imprints all had fantastic years in 2006, particularly with long-time house authors who showed growth in sales since their last books. Penguin Group (USA)’s strong performance is a testament to aggressive, intelligent, and creative publishing as well as innovative marketing and selling.

- G.P. Putnam’s Sons was the industry’s #1 hardcover imprint in 2006, with 26 New York Times bestsellers. Putnam has led the publishing industry with more hardcover New York Times bestsellers than any other single imprint in the publishing world for more than fifteen consecutive years. In addition, nine of Putnam’s New York Times repeat-bestselling authors grew by an average of 7.5% over their previous books. Five New York Times bestselling Putnam authors – W.E.B. Griffin, John Sandford, Daniel Silva, Robert B. Parker and Stuart Woods – achieved personal bests in 2006.

- Viking had 12 New York Times bestsellers in 2006. Two Viking titles, Mayflower by Nathaniel Philbrick and Special Topics in Calamity Physics by Marisha Pessl, were among The Ten Best Books of 2006 selected by The New York Times Book Review. Mayflower, with more than 400,000 copies shipped, stayed on The New York Times Hardcover Nonfiction Bestseller list for 20 weeks, debuting on the list in May and returning to the list in the Fall.

- Penguin Classics sales were up 25 percent in 2006, the imprint’s 60th Anniversary year. Celebrations included the introduction of the Penguin Graphic Deluxe Classics. This new sub-series marries classic literature with stunning graphic cover illustrations. The first six titles, including Voltaire’s Candide, The Portable Dorothy Parker, and The Jungle by Upton Sinclair, were honored as part of the American Institute of Graphic Arts’ prestigious “50 Books / 50 Covers” design competition.

Published a Pulitzer Prize Winner as well as a Winner of a National Book Critics Circle Award, the Orange Prize and Other Prestigious Awards

Tyler Perry’s Don’t Make a Black Woman Take Off Her Earrings (Riverhead) won the 2006 Quill Award for Book of the Year. Perry also won in the Humor category. Nora Roberts’ Blue Smoke (Putnam) won the Quill Award in the Romance category while T.D. Jakes was the winner in the Religion/Spirituality category for Mama Made the Difference (Putnam).

Achieved Strong Paperback Sales: Trade and Mass Market

In 2006, Penguin Group (USA) further demonstrated its skill for taking paperbacks to the top of bestseller lists and keeping them there. Penguin Group paperback titles held the #1 slot on The New York Times paperback fiction list for 22 straight weeks – a record achievement. This outstanding level of performance carried over into 2007, with Penguin holding nine of the top 15 slots – 66 percent! – on The New York Times paperback fiction list for the week of February 4th.

- Achieved Strong Trade Paperback Sales with Three Multi-Million-Copy Trade Paperback Bestsellers

  Penguin Group (USA) continues to distinguish itself as the home of multi-million-copy trade paperback bestsellers, including The Kite Runner by Khaled Hosseini (more than 4 million copies in print, through 25 printings, and more than two years – 111 weeks – on The New York Times paperback fiction bestseller list), The Secret Life of Bees by Sue Monk Kidd (more than 4.6 million copies in print, through 27 printings, and 102 weeks on The New York Times paperback fiction bestseller list) and, most recently, The Memory Keeper’s Daughter by Kim Edwards (more than 2.4 million copies in print, through 18 printings, 35 weeks on The New York Times paperback fiction bestseller list, including 15 weeks at its current #1 position). The Memory Keeper’s Daughter has also been #1 for 26 weeks on Publishers Weekly’s Paperback Bestsellers List. Remarkable Rate: Penguin shipped 10,773 copies of The Memory Keeper’s Daughter per day from May 30 through December 2006.

- Achieved Growth in the Premium Paperback Format, Contributing to Increased Mass Market Profitability

  Penguin Group (USA)’s overall mass market performance in 2006 was strong, with Penguin’s invention, the Premium Edition, contributing significantly to the increased profitability. The company continues to aggressively publish bestsellers in this format and have 21 Penguin Premium editions scheduled for publication in 2007.

- Achieved Backlist Growth

  Strong backlist sales were underpinned by the 60th Anniversary of Penguin Classics, with promotions, new formats, eye-catching repackaging, and special editions driving Penguin Classics’ best-ever year for sales across all markets. Last fall Penguin Classics launched its Book Club on Amazon.com. Significant new sales growth was achieved with each of the first two Penguin Classics Book Club title selections: Fifth Business by Robertson Davies and Kristin Lavransdatter by Sigrid Undset.

- Grew New Hardcover Bestsellers by Building Authors in Mass Market Format First

- Penguin Group (USA) discovered and launched the careers of New York Times- bestselling authors with bestselling paperback originals before they achieved New York Times hardcover bestsellers. This feat revives a publishing strategy that had gone cold in the industry years ago. Also, Berkley is now the #1 marketplace leader at turning paranormal romance and fantasy mass market paperback authors into hardcover bestsellers. In 2006, Penguin Group (USA) had more success with this publishing pattern than any other house, with Laurell K. Hamilton, Charlaine Harris, and Christine Feehan all placing titles on The New York Times hardcover fiction bestseller list, resulting in three New York Times hardcover fiction bestsellers from Berkley Hardcover and one from Ace Hardcover for the year.

- Continued to Dominate Paranormal Fiction

- Leslie Gelbman and her Berkley/NAL team are the marketplace leader in the Paranormal Romance category, publishing such New York Times bestselling authors as Laurell K. Hamilton, Christine Feehan, and J.R. Ward. The Paranormal Romance book market keeps growing, with Paranormal Romances making up an estimated 20 to 25 percent of U.S. romance book sales in 2006. This represents an 18 percent increase over 2005. Roc, NAL’s science fiction/fantasy imprint, is at the forefront of another growing Paranormal Romance sub-category, Dark Urban Fantasy/Dark Urban Noir. And less than two months into 2007, Ace author Patricia Briggs’ Blood Bound has already hit The New York Times bestseller list.

Increased Audio Sales

Penguin Audio gross sales were up 6 percent in 2006 as the division achieved its most successful sales numbers ever. Penguin Audio won two Publishers Weekly 2006 Listen-Up Awards and five Penguin Audio books are finalists for 2007 Audies – the most ever for the audio division.

Achieved Record Young Readers Bestsellers

Penguin Young Readers Group had a record year in 2006. With 27 New York Times bestsellers, the Group set a new bestseller performance record (besting the 2005 full-year record total of 25). In addition, the Group’s 197 weeks on The New York Times list was 30 more than last year’s total of 167. Its five #1 New York Times bestsellers in 2006 included Fairyopolis: A Flower Fairies Journal by Cicely Mary Barker (Warne), with a total of 52 weeks since November 2005; The Little Engine That Could by Watty Piper, illustrated by Loren Long (Philomel Books), which became a #1 New York Times bestseller in the wake of its national position as Jumpstart’s Read for the Record title in the program’s inaugural year, and Heat by Mike Lupica (Philomel Books), his second #1 New York Times bestseller. The Group excels in publishing New York Times bestselling Young Readers titles by such authors as Lupica, Clive Cussler, Jan Karon and Robert B. Parker, who also write adult bestsellers.

Increased Online and eBook Sales

Penguin Group (USA) online sales have continued to experience large year-over-year growth. Looking at 2006, the Penguin Group (USA) website (http://us.penguin.com) attracted more than 2.8 million unique visitors and online sales in the US increased nearly 30 percent, year-over-year. In addition, eBook sales through third party retailers were up 17 percent year-over-year.

Delivered Strong Growth Globally: the UK, DK, Australia and Canada

Penguin UK: 2006 was a year of outstanding progress, with sales growth well ahead of the market. This was fueled by a record number of bestsellers -- 59 titles in the BookScan top ten bestseller list in 2006 versus 54 in 2005. In 2006, Penguin books enjoyed a total of 361 weeks in the charts as against 319 weeks in the previous year. It was also a great year for fiction, as Penguin’s share of the fiction market grew by 19 percent (while the overall fiction market grew by only 3 percent) led by A Short History of Tractors in Ukrainian by Marina Lewycka as well as some very strong hardcover fiction performances by key repeating authors Marian Keyes, Clive Cussler, Lesley Pearse, PJ Tracy and Dick Francis. The year 2006 was also a stellar one for book awards. Titles from the Hamish Hamilton imprint alone won the UK’s three biggest literary prizes: The Whitbread Book of the Year – Matisse the Master by Hilary Spurling; The Orange Prize for Fiction – On Beauty by Zadie Smith and The Man Booker Prize – The Inheritance of Loss by Kiran Desai. Strong backlist sales were underpinned by the 60th Anniversary of Penguin Classics, with promotions, new formats, eye-catching repackaging and special editions driving Penguin Classics’ best ever year for sales across all markets. UK and European sales of Classics were up 20 percent year-on-year.

DK had a year of growth in all markets thanks to a very strong publishing program. Highlights included Pick Me Up, a new kind of reference book inspired by the Internet, styled like a video game, and informed by pop culture, which hit #8 on The New York Times bestseller list in the US and #1 in the Children’s Reference category in the UK; Rainforest, DIY, Weapon, Shipwreck Detective and the Marvel Encyclopedia were also big sellers in the second half. DK won a host of awards including The James Beard Award for The Cook’s Book and The Practical Preschool Award for Miriam Stoppard’s Toddler series. DK’s International licensing division put in a particularly strong performance in Central and Eastern Europe and Mexico while BradyGames, publishers of the world’s leading video strategy guides, and now part of DK, saw big sales around the globe from the World of Warcraft franchise and other games.
Penguin Australia, following its record year in 2005, continued to perform well in 2006. Penguin’s total market share was nearly 17 percent, more than 6.7 percent ahead of its nearest competitor. Five of the country’s top ten bestsellers for the year came from Penguin. The market leader in fiction with more than 19 percent, Penguin had the highest selling Australian novel of 2006 with Bryce Courtenay's Sylvia. In the nonfiction category, Penguin's market share of 14.75 percent was five percentage points ahead of its nearest rival. Its children’s division had another exceptional year, with 15.75 percent market share, nearly 7 percent ahead of its nearest rival.

Penguin Canada had a banner year in 2006 with 53 titles making the national bestseller lists. Last year’s #1 bestselling books numbered 14 and included Margaret MacMillan’s Nixon in China, Stuart McLean’s Secrets from the Vinyl Café (6 weeks at #1) and Matthew Skelton’s Endymion Spring. In the Spring of 2006, Penguin Canada Publisher David Davidar announced a three-year initiative to deepen and strengthen Penguin Canada's publishing program, with the company launching one new Canadian series every year through 2008.

Expanded Leadership Positions in Emerging Markets such as India, China, and South Africa

Penguin Group continued to grow its businesses globally in 2006. The company has raised its flag in emerging markets with enormous growth opportunities – Penguin Group being the first international English language trade publisher to establish offices in India and China – and has been able to further expand its global revenue streams, in some cases reaching new market-share heights and launching innovative publishing programs. Of particular note:

Penguin India, which celebrates its 20th Anniversary this year, once again was the market-share leader in 2006, with 23 percent, more than double its closest competitor. Penguin India was the first international publisher in India to develop a sustained publishing program in a language other than English and its local publishing program in 2006 was 21 percent ahead of 2005. Penguin publishes nearly all of India’s top bestselling authors, including Kiran Desai, Vikram Chandra, William Dalrymple, and Mani Bhaumik, with Amitav Gosh the latest world-class new writer to join the list. In 2006, Penguin India launched a new imprint, Portfolio, to cater specifically to the business segment, named after Penguin Group (USA)’s dedicated business book imprint.

DK launched dk.china.com, a new website to showcase DK’s local publishing in this growing territory. DK grew local language licensed sales to China by 40 percent and signed an agreement to publish Travel Guides in Chinese for the first time.

Penguin South Africa’s Spud, the critically acclaimed #1-bestselling debut comic novel by John van de Ruit, has been the fastest-selling local fiction title in the South African market in decades. When Spud was first published in September 2005, it quickly rose into the Top 5 on The Sunday Times (SA) bestseller list and has been #1 for a total of 26 weeks – many of those weeks consecutively. Spud remained in the Top Ten continuously for more than one year and was the #1 bestseller of South African titles distributed by Exclusive Books. Penguin Group (USA)’s Young Readers imprint Razorbill will publish Spud in October 2007.

Looking Ahead

Penguin Group Actively Pursues Digital Initiatives

The impact of digital technology on book publishing is global in scope and Penguin Group is taking a leadership position in 2007.

John Makinson, Chairman and CEO, Penguin Group, has observed that “digital technology affects every area of our business because it forces us to rethink how we create content, how we store it, sell it, license it, manufacture it, and protect it.”

Going forward in 2007, Penguin Group is pursuing a number of digital initiatives, including:

- Establishing a virtual online library – with words, images and data – across Pearson, fully searchable by anyone in the world, with a global data base. No one can predict the speed at which individual product and format applications take off, but this digital archive will put Penguin Group in a position to respond rapidly as new digital formats become viable in the marketplace.

- Further improving Penguin Group’s global websites with new tools, including new search engines, content management tools and customer relationship management systems. In partnership with Pearson Technology, Penguin is developing a plan to put these tools in place and give company websites much better functionality.

- Coordinating Penguin Group’s digital activities around the world, with the appointment of one individual to coordinate and, in some cases, direct new technology initiatives and programs.
• Forging relationships with technology companies, search engines, bloggers, content aggregators, electronic retailers, online book communities and social networks.

• Testing new pricing, marketing, and publishing ideas in the world of digital technology.

• Launching travel.dk.com, a website that integrates user-generated content with DK Eyewitness content and allows the user to create, print and share personalized travel guides.

Penguin Group Publishes Internationally Renowned Authors, Whose New Books Are Expected to Be Among the Most Highly Anticipated Titles of 2007

Penguin Group (USA)’s Upcoming Publishing Events:

Several of the most prestigious and important book launches in the industry in 2007 are coming from Penguin Group (USA):

The Age of Turbulence by Alan Greenspan (The Penguin Press, Fall 2007)
The Penguin Press President and Publisher Ann Godoff, who acquired The Age of Turbulence, said, “It is a singular honor for The Penguin Press to publish Alan Greenspan, who has spent his extraordinary career reckoning with how the world really works. His book will be about what we can know, what we can’t know, and what we should do about it.” Dr. Greenspan, Chairman of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve of the United States from 1997 to 2006, will present his view of the world during the second half of the 20th century and the first years of the 21st century as well as his vision for the future, making this book essential reading for people everywhere.

A Thousand Splendid Suns by Khaled Hosseini (Riverhead, 5/22/07)
Khaled Hosseini, author of the internationally acclaimed #1 New York Times bestseller, The Kite Runner, which has sold over 4 million copies, returns with a highly anticipated new novel, A Thousand Splendid Suns. The book is propelled by the same superb instinct for storytelling that made The Kite Runner a beloved classic. It is a heart-wrenching chronicle of thirty years of Afghan history and a deeply moving story of family, friendship, faith and the salvation to be found in love.

The Assault on Reason by Al Gore (The Penguin Press, 5/22/07)
Former Vice President Al Gore, author of the #1 New York Times bestseller An Inconvenient Truth, delivers a visionary analysis of how the politics of fear, secrecy, cronyism, and blind faith have combined with the degradation of the public sphere to create an environment dangerously hostile to reason. Drawing on a life’s work in politics as well as the work of experts across a broad range of disciplines, Gore has written a farsighted and powerful manifesto for clear thinking. [Gore’s An Inconvenient Truth: The Crisis of Global Warming (Viking Children’s Books), adapted for young readers, is coming from Penguin Young Readers Group in April 2007.]
Book of the Dead by Patricia Cornwell (G. P. Putnam’s Sons, Fall 2007)
Patricia Cornwell is America’s #1 bestselling crime writer and has achieved international acclaim for such #1 New York Times bestsellers as At Risk, Predator, Trace and Portrait of a Killer: Jack The Ripper – Case Closed. Her earlier work includes Postmortem – the only novel to win the Edgar, Creasey, Anthony, and Macavity awards and the French Prix du Roman d’Aventure in a single year – and Cruel and Unusual, which won Britain’s prestigious Gold Dagger Award for the best crime novel of 1993. Her character Dr. Kay Scarpetta won the 1999 Sherlock Award for the best detective created by an American author. Book of the Dead, which will feature Dr. Scarpetta, America’s favorite forensic pathologist, is sure to be another major success.

Other major releases coming from Penguin Group (USA) in 2007 include:

Fiction:

From #1 New York Times bestselling authors to literary legends, the array of fiction titles Penguin Group (USA) is publishing in 2007 is very impressive.

Home to Holly Springs by Jan Karon (Viking, Fall 2007)
With Home to Holly Springs, New York Times-bestselling author Jan Karon launches a new series, The Father Tim Novels, featuring the central character her readers have come to love from her Mitford novels.

T is for Trespass by Sue Grafton (Marian Wood/ Putnam, Fall 2007)
In what may be her most unsettling novel to date, T is for Trespass is also Sue Grafton’s most direct confrontation with the forces of evil. Though set in the late eighties, the book could not be more topical: identity theft; elder abuse; betrayal of trust; the breakdown in the institutions charged with caring for the weak and the dependent. It reveals a terrifying but all-too-real rip in the social fabric. T also stands for twentieth, as T is for Trespass is the twentieth book in Grafton’s alphabet series.

World Without End by Ken Follett (Dutton, Fall 2007)
The sequel to the acclaimed New York Times bestseller The Pillars of the Earth, World Without End takes place in the same town in England, two centuries later. The cathedral is again at the center of the story where love and hate, greed and pride, ambition and revenge collide. World Without End reinvigorates the epic historical novel and, throughout, Follett takes wholly satisfying risks as a writer, once again emerging with a masterpiece.

The Last Summer (of You and Me) by Ann Brashares (Riverhead, 6/07)
An enchanting page-turner about friendship, love, loss, and growing up, The Last Summer (of You and Me) is the first novel for adults by Ann Brashares, the author of the multi-million, #1 New York Times bestselling Sisterhood of the Traveling Pants series for young adults.
50th Anniversary of On the Road by Jack Kerouac (Viking, 9/07)
In three weeks in 1951, Jack Kerouac wrote an early draft of On the Road on several long sheets of tracing paper that he later taped together to form a scroll. Viking is planning to publish this never before published version of the novel as a 6 x 9 hardcover. Viking will also be publishing a 50th anniversary hardcover of the 1957 edition, as well as a new book from New York Times writer John Leland, Why Kerouac Matters, about the lessons imparted in On the Road.

Nonfiction:

Penguin Group (USA)’s 2007 nonfiction list is diverse and wide-ranging. Here are some highlights.

The Long Road Home: A Story of War and Family by Martha Raddatz (G. P. Putnam’s Sons 3/1/07)
From ABC News Chief White House correspondent Martha Raddatz comes the story of a brutal forty-eight-hour firefight in Iraq that conveys in harrowing detail the effects of war not just on the soldiers but also on their families at home in the United States.

The Ballad of Abu Ghraib by Philip Gourevitch (with Errol Morris) – (The Penguin Press, 9/07)
An unprecedented collaboration between a world-renowned journalist and a legendary Academy-Award winning filmmaker: Philip Gourevitch draws on the extraordinary range of interviews that Errol Morris has conducted, documented, and gathered in the course of his work for his next documentary feature film to produce a nonfiction narrative that tells the human story of the scandal and meditates on its larger meanings.

DO YOU!: 12 Laws to Access the Power in You to Achieve Happiness and Success by Russell Simmons and Chris Morrow (Gotham, 4/24/07)
Hailed as “Hip-Hop’s CEO,” Simmons shares his experiences and beliefs about how to be successful with “12 proven steps to achieving happiness and empowerment.”

The New Kings of Nonfiction by Ira Glass (Riverhead Trade Paperback Original, 10/07)

Common Wealth by Jeffrey D. Sachs (The Penguin Press, 8/21/07)
A clear and vivid map to the road to sustainable and equitable global prosperity and a look at the global economic collapse that lies ahead if we don’t follow it, by the author of The New York Times bestseller, The End of Poverty. Sachs has been cited by The New York Times Magazine as “probably the most important economist in the world” and by Time as “the world’s best-known economist.”

The Secret History of the American Empire by John Perkins (Dutton, 6/5/07)
An expose of international corruption, and what we can do about it, from the author of The New York Times bestseller Confessions of an Economic Hit Man.
Broken Government by John Dean (Viking, Fall 2007)
The New York Times-bestselling author of Worse than Watergate and Conservatives Without Conscience looks at the workings of the three branches of the U.S. government and analyzes why Washington has become so dysfunctional.

Inside Inside: Life Inside the Actor’s Studio by James Lipton (Dutton, 10/07)
An intimate portrait of the award-winning TV show “Inside the Actors Studio” and James Lipton’s life as its host for 11 years, this memoir will offer irresistible insider stories about the more than 200 celebrities whom Lipton has interviewed or met along the way.

Louder Than Words by Jenny McCarthy (Dutton, 9/6/07)
With the New York Times bestsellers Life Laughs, Baby Laughs, and Belly Laughs, actress and former MTV personality Jenny McCarthy tackled the everyday trials of pregnancy, motherhood, marriage, and divorce. In her new book, which will stand alone outside the Laughs series, Jenny opens up about an issue very close to her heart.

Young Readers:

Penguin Young Readers Group presents a strong list of titles for 2007, including the following books by such New York Times bestselling authors as Jan Brett, Mike Lupica, Al Gore, Anthony Horowitz, Lynne Truss, and Madonna.

Three Snow Bears by Jan Brett (Putnam, 9/07)
