NEW TITLES • NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

DAVID TREUER

Prudence

Walter Exercise David Treuer tells the story of a young man who tries to reach his brother before he is lost forever in the midst of the Vietnam War. His perspective is one of the many voices captured from the POW camp scene in this sequel to his novel Prudence. The war has come home to the Native American people with consequences that will determine their future.

"Treuer distills modern indigenous perspectives with a sense of history, blending personal narrative with vivid storytelling. ... He has written a book that speaks to the heart and the mind of all people."—New York Times Book Review

PENGUIN CLASSICS PAPERBACK • 240 PP • 978-0-14-310605-0 • $16.00

DAVID TREUER

The Heart of Aztlan

"Walter Exercise David Treuer reimagines the story of a Native American family as it navigates the challenges of the Vietnam War. His perspective is one of the many voices captured from the POW camp scene in this sequel to his novel Prudence. The war has come home to the Native American people with consequences that will determine their future.

"Treuer distills modern indigenous perspectives with a sense of history, blending personal narrative with vivid storytelling. ... He has written a book that speaks to the heart and the mind of all people."—New York Times Book Review

PENGUIN CLASSICS PAPERBACK • 240 PP • 978-0-14-310605-0 • $16.00

WILLIAM T. VOLLMANN

The Dying Grass

A Novel of the Nez Perce War

This new novel, which is set in the shadow of Mount St. Helens, follows a Nez Perce community that is torn apart by internal conflict and external forces. The novel explores themes of survival, identity, and resistance against oppression.

"In this epic novel, Vollmann tells the story of the Nez Perce War, one of the greatest defeats of the United States Army. His book is a powerful testament to the resilience and courage of the Nez Perce people, and a call to remember the past to guide the present and future."—New York Times Book Review

VIKING HARDCOVER • 1,376 PP • 978-0-670-01598-6 • $55.00

PETER NABOKOV

How the World Moves

The Odyssey of an American Indian Family

With his gripping story of the Nez Perce War, Vollmann offers a striking portrait of the resistance against oppression and the resilience of the Nez Perce people. The novel explores themes of survival, identity, and resistance against oppression.

"In this epic novel, Vollmann tells the story of the Nez Perce War, one of the greatest defeats of the United States Army. His book is a powerful testament to the resilience and courage of the Nez Perce people, and a call to remember the past to guide the present and future."—New York Times Book Review

VIKING HARDCOVER • 1,376 PP • 978-0-670-01598-6 • $55.00

EDWARD PROCTOR HUNT

The Origin Myth of Acoma Pueblo

A masterpiece of Pueblo Indian mythology, Edward Proctor Hunt's version of the tribe's origin myth to Smithsonian Institution scholars. Placed in the context of the tribe's cultural and historical development, this book provides a unique perspective on the tribe's identity and history.

"This book is doubly unique. The Hunt family's atypical trajectory, born into Pueblo society is well served by the rare depth of Peter Nabokov's friendship, knowledge, and research. "—Douglas Brinkley, Rice University

PENGUIN CLASSICS PAPERBACK • 240 PP • 978-0-14-310605-0 • $16.00
NEW TITLES • NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

DAVID TREUER

Prudence

Ojibwe author David Treuer tells the story of a young man who visits his grandfather on the reservation before joining the war. The novel explores the clash of worldviews, the complexities of family secrets, and the personal sacrifices Treuer himself has made as a result of his family’s history.

The Washington Post

Inequalities of race, class, gender and sexual orientation; the treatment of captured combatants; the Escheresque ethics of bombing civilians a world away; the culture that allows white people to shoot people of color; the speed of an arrow…a novel as involving and beautifully assembled as Vollmann’s greatest defeat since Little Big Horn as they fled from northeast Oregon across Montana to the Canadian border. William T. Vollmann

The Origin of Acoma Pueblo

Peter Nabokov

A masterpiece of Pueblo Indian mythology, Edward Proctor Hunt’s version of the tribe’s origin myth to Smithsonian Institution scholars. Placing the story of Hunt and his family within a multicultural and historical context, Nabokov chronicles Anglo/Indian relations over the last century and a half.

PENGUIN PUBLISHING GROUP • 240 PP. • 978-0-14-310605-0 • $16.00

PENGUIN PUBLISHING GROUP • 272 PP. • 978-1-59463-308-9 • $27.95

PENGUIN PUBLISHING GROUP • 608 PP. • 978-0-670-02488-9 • $32.95

PENGUIN PUBLISHING GROUP • 358 PP. • 978-0-14-310628-9 • $15.95
NEW TITLES • NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

DAVID TREUER
Prudence
Ojibwe author David Treuer tells the story of a young man who visits his family after serving in Vietnam, finding them changed and distant. There, he grapples with the effects of the Vietnam War on his family and community, and with his own identity as a Native American. "—The Washington Post

PETER NABOKOV
How the World Moves
The Odyssey of an American Indian Family
Peter Nabokov recounts the fascinating story of Edward Proctor Hunt, a Native American who served in the Union army during the Civil War. Hunt's experiences in battle and his struggles after the war provide unique insights into Native American history and identity. "—The New York Times Book Review

WILLIAM T. VOLLMANN
The Dying Grass
A Novel of the Nez Perce War
William T. Vollmann's acclaimed novel explores the Nez Perce War of 1877, a crucial event in Native American history. The story follows Chief Joseph and his people as they fight to preserve their way of life against the U.S. Army. "—The Wall Street Journal

EDWARD PROCTOR HUNT
The Origin Myth of Acoma Pueblo
Edward Proctor Hunt was a remarkable figure who dedicated his life to preserving the history and culture of his people. Born into an Osage family, Hunt later adopted the name Edward Proctor Hunt to better reflect his heritage. His story is tied to the foundation of the Acoma Pueblo, a community that has thrived for centuries. "—The New York Times

PENGUIN PUBLISHING GROUP
For complimentary examination copies and personalized assistance in selecting titles for your courses, sign up for our College Faculty Information Service (CFIS) at: WWW.PENGUIN.COM/FACINFO
BRENDA J. CHILD
Holding Our World Together
Upweym Women and the Survival of Sovereignty
INTRODUCTION BY WILLIAM HJORSTAD
A concise and engaging narrative that tells the personal and political stories behind the remarkable women who sustained Native American societies from the late eighteenth to the early twentieth centuries. In an age of rapid social change, they fought off a powerful and predatory intruder and preserved cultural traditions. "A must-read for anyone interested in Native American history."—Kathleen J. Robinson, University of California, Santa Barbara
PENGUIN CLASSICS PAPERBACK
208 PP. • 978-0-14-311920-3 • $15.00

FREDERICK HOXIE
This Indian Country
American Indian Activists and the Place They Made
"Hoxie offers a clear, evenhanded perspective on American Indian activism, from its roots in the 1880s to its most recent developments. His book is an essential guide to the history and politics of Indian activism in the twentieth century."
—Brett Graff, University of Minnesota
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 424 PP. • 978-1-59420-556-9 • $29.95

JEFFREY OSTLER
The Lakotas and the Black Hills
The Struggle for Sacred Ground
"A must-read for those interested in the Lakota Nation's struggle for sovereignty. It is the story of a people who lost their sacred place and fought to regain their homeland."
—Richard White, University of Washington
PENGUIN CLASSICS PAPERBACK
256 PP. • 978-0-14-311391-1 • $14.00

STANFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS

LUTHER H. GINN
The American Indian in the Law
EDITED BY WILLIAM J. SAVAGE
"[This book] is both a history of the American Indian and a history of the law, and the story of the American Indian as a litigant, as a defendant, as a plaintiff.

TIMOTHY J. SHANNON
Inquisito Diplomacy on the Early Frontier
INTRODUCTION BY CLEMENTS LIBRARY
"A fascinating and detailed account of how one Jesuit's diplomatic skills helped to shape the relations between different tribes and the European powers."
—Romuald Trautmann, Saint Louis University
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 512 PP. • 978-0-14-303689-9 • $20.00

LESLIE MARMON SILKO
Winter in the Blood
A Newbery Honor Book
"Silko's powerful novel of the conflicts of an American Indian on the fringe of American society."
—Rodman Philbrick, author of Boys in the Band
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 224 PP. • 978-0-14-303614-2 • $10.00

AMELIA J. VALENTINO
The World of the Navajo Code Talkers
"An inspiring account of the remarkable contributions of the Navajo Code Talkers during World War II."
—Karl N.13, author of Navajo History
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 160 PP. • 978-0-14-303688-2 • $15.00

TIMOTHY J. SHANNON
The Cherokee Nation and the Trail of Tears
INTRODUCTION BY CLEMENTS LIBRARY
"A compelling account of the Cherokee Nation's struggle to preserve its identity and land."
—William T. Neill, historian and author
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 304 PP. • 978-0-14-311529-8 • $16.00

THEODA PERDUE and MICHAEL GREEN
American Indians and the Law
EDITED BY WILLIAM J. SAVAGE
"A vital history of how Native Americans have fought for their rights and how the law has responded to these struggles."
—Jane C. Noonan, University of Chicago
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 544 PP. • 978-0-14-311379-7 • $20.00

JAMES WELCH
Little Bighorn
"A gripping account of the Battle of the Little Bighorn and the events that led up to it."
—Jonathan Raban, author of The Age of the Horse
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 352 PP. • 978-0-14-303621-0 • $16.00

ZITKALA-SA
American Indian Stories, Legends, and Other Writings
"A collection of Zitkala-Sa's remarkable works, including her famous novel 'Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee.'"
—Katherine Kline, author of The Navajo Nation
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 464 PP. • 978-0-14-311747-6 • $16.00

JOHN TANNER
The Falcon
"A richly detailed historical saga of the American Indian and the European interaction in the American West."
—David J. Weber, author of The Plains Indians
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 320 PP. • 978-0-14-311478-9 • $17.00

KATHY DEROUNIAN-STODDARD
Captivity Narratives
Edited by Odella Odola, editor
"An essential resource for those interested in the history of Native American captivity."
—Walter Echo Hawk, author of The Path to Justice
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 304 PP. • 978-0-14-243751-3 • $15.00

JAMES WELCH
Shadows at Dawn
"A captivating novel that explores the impact of the Battle of the Little Bighorn."
—Joseph Zilka, author of The American Indian in the Law
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 288 PP. • 978-0-14-311369-0 • $16.00

KARL N.13
The Journey of Crazy Horse
"A revelatory portrait of one of America's most celebrated Native American figures."
—Richard White, author of The Age of the Horse
PENGUIN PAPERBACK • 400 PP. • 978-0-14-043671-6 • $16.00

HISTORY OF THE AMERICAN INDIANS
OFFICIAL PUBLISHER OF THE AMERICAN INDIAN STUDIES PROGRAM
www.penguin.com/americanindians
www.penguin.com/classics www.penguin.com/academic Jacksonland
President Andrew Jackson, Cherokee Chief John Ross, and a Great American Lie
Jackson’s capture among towering portraits of the nation’s historic martyrs of Independence, Andrew Jackson’s determination to expel the Native Americans from the Southeast and his opposition to their from Cherokees Chief John Ross, President Andrew Jackson, and diplomat and political rival

“Jacksonland... the story of the Cherokees removal has been told many times, but never in a single book. Here is such a story... it is a story about the sins and crimes that were committed by the United States, and a story that needs to be told...”–Colin O. Calloway

This Indian Country
American Indian Activists and the Place They Made
A revealing and sweeping examination of the evolving relationship between the federal government and American Indians in modern America.

“an incisive and engaging account of the American Indian movement... Denevan’s book is a masterful and compelling narrative about the biggest social movement in American history.” –Washington Post

Brenda J. Child
Holding Our World Together: Indigenous Women and the Survival of Community

“...a powerful corrective to the scholarship on Indian women...” –Jacqueline Peterson, Washington University Vancouver, Director of the Papers of Andrew Jackson, University of Wisconsin

Jeffrey O. Ferrell
The Lakotas and the Black Hills

“...brilliantly illuminates this troubling story. Told with pinpoint accuracy, Ferrell captures a tragic turning point in this dramatic narrative history of the American West.” –Steve Inskeep

Timothy J. Shannon
Inquisitor Diplomacy on the Early American Frontier

“...brilliantly and sensitively explains the complex political and religious issues that shaped American Indian diplomacies in the colonial era.” –The Washington Post

Leslie Marmo Silko
Winter in the Blood

“...a haunting, elegantly written and sensitively observed account of an isolated Indian community.” –Los Angeles Times

Zitkala-Sa
The Way the World Ended at Little Bighorn

“...a compelling and powerful story...” –The New York Times

Promo code: PNAT

For faster and more accurate ordering, use our online form: www.penguin.com/examcopyorder

Printed in the United States of America

Blackhawk, Yale University

Professor Andrew James Yeager, Chancellor of Yale University, has been named the new editor of The Yale Review. Yeager is the first Yale scholar to lead the distinguished scholarly journal since its founding in 1957.

Yeager, a political economist and historian, is best known for his work on the history of the United States and its place in the world. His latest book, "The Long Shadow: America's Century and the World It Made," explores the political, economic, and cultural legacies of the United States since its founding. Yeager has also written extensively on the history of the United States and its role in global affairs, and has served as a consultant to government and international organizations.

Yeager will be replacing Professor John H. Making, who has served as editor of The Yale Review for the past 10 years. Making, a distinguished scholar in the field of American history, has helped to shape the journal's distinctive approach to scholarship and has overseen the publication of numerous important articles and essays.

Yeager will begin his tenure as editor in July 2015. He will be joined by an editorial board of distinguished scholars, including Professor John J. Makos, a specialist in the history of the United States and its role in the world, and Professor John H. Makos, a leading scholar in the field of American history.

The Yale Review, founded in 1957 by Professor John H. Makos, is a quarterly journal that publishes essays, reviews, and interviews by leading scholars in a variety of fields, including American history, political science, economics, and sociology. The journal is read by scholars, practitioners, and policymakers around the world.

Yeager is currently the director of the Yale Economic History Project and the director of the Center for the Study of American Politics and Political Economy. He has also served as the director of the Yale Program in Latin American Studies.

Yeager earned his doctorate from the University of Chicago and has taught at Yale University since 1994. He is the author of several books, including "The Long Shadow: America's Century and the World It Made," and has written extensively on the history of the United States and its role in global affairs.

Yeager is a Phi Beta Kappa scholar and a member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. He is also a fellow of the American Council ofLearned Societies and the Social Science Research Council.

Yeager and his wife, Professor Jane C. Yeager, a specialist in the history of the United States and its role in the world, have three children. They live in New Haven, Connecticut.