A SPECIAL LETTER FOR A SPECIAL FRIEND

“I’m writing a letter to Amy. I’m inviting her to my party,” Peter announced. “Why don’t you just ask her? You didn’t write to anyone else,” said his mother. Peter stared at the sheet of paper for a while and said, “We—well, this way it’s sort of special.”

—A Letter to Amy by Ezra Jack Keats

In A Letter to Amy Peter writes his friend Amy a letter to invite her to his party because he believes that sending a written note is more special than inviting her on the phone or in person. Writing a letter to someone can be a great way to tell that person something. In the space below, write a letter to someone you think is special. Or you can write a letter to your favorite character from one of Ezra Jack Keats’s books. Tell Peter, Archie, Amy, or Roberto a story about yourself!

KEATS’S NEIGHBORHOOD MEMORY GAME

Test your memory skills with this fun activity that can be played both individually or as a group. Ask an adult to help you photocopy this page and cut out the cards below on both the solid and the dotted lines. Mix up the cards, and place them facedown on a flat surface. If you’re playing with a partner, take turns picking up two cards at a time to see if they picture two halves of the same illustration. If they do, keep the pair and take another turn. If not, place both cards facedown again and let your partner take a turn. The person who makes the most matches wins.
