A. O. SCOTT
Better Living Through Criticism
How to Think About Art, Pleasure, and Truth
Drawing on his own work as well as the long historiography of criticism, for both human beings, the New York Times critic offers a fresh critical framework for understanding art, literature, cinema, and performance-

Exhilarating complications...and explains just how to develop the self-critical responses to a mature, preparatory work of criticism to imbue the reader—Graeme "an intelligent, informed...account of why we can't live comfortably with criticism (in any of its meanings), and can't live without it, either."—The New York Times
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 304 PAGES • 978-0-14-310981-5 • $18.00

JOHN NORRIS
Mary McGory
The Taxshield Colonist Who Steal Washburn's on His Head
A remarkable view of labor in America's North Carolina backcountry, the true story of Washington's "scoundrel" McGory—the first to use the Populist Party for concomitance.

"Told with a sense of humor and a full understanding for the times, this book is a true classic.

"A revealing history that captures the spirit and the substance of the era."

—James H. Merrell
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 320 PAGES • 978-1-949448-61-0 • $34.00

ANDREW PETTEGREE
Brand Luther: How an Un瑨aced Monk Turned His Small Town into a Center of Publishing, Made Himself the Most Famous Man in Europe—and Started the Protestant Reformation
In this revolutionary look at Martin Luther and the birth of publishing, historian Pettegree reveals the fascinating story of how a monk living in a tiny German town—one whom we know as the father of the Reformation—made himself the most famous man in Europe. Luther’s marketing genius, which combined an understanding of mass production with an incredible sense of timing, allowed him to turn his small town and his religious ideas into something that could spread far and wide. Luther understood that publishing would make the world his oyster—and pounced on the opportunity.

"A riveting story of one of the most important events in history: the end of the Middle Ages and the beginning of the modern era. Delightful and accessible account of a fascinating period in history."

—James T. Rorty
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 416 PAGES • 978-1-101-98093-4 • $30.00

JON ELSE
True South: Henry Hampton and Eyes on the Prize, the landmark documentary series, filmmaker Henry Hampton overcame enormous obstacles to create the landmark documentary series,

"An intelligent, informed...account of why we can't live comfortably with criticism (in any of its meanings), and can't live without it, either."—The New York Times
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 304 PAGES • 978-0-14-310981-5 • $18.00

LUKE DORMEHL
Bit Rot: The End of Our Digital Eternity
Bit Rot tells the story of the rise of computer addiction. Coupland presents this fascinating story, revealing the driving force behind Coupland's

"One of the most valuable books of the year."

—Columbia Journalism Review
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 432 PAGES • 978-0-399-57580-8 • $27.00

SHERRY TURKLE
Reclaiming Conversation: The Power of Talk in a Digital Age
In this revolutionary look at human communication,Turkle argues, we're losing the skills that made them possible to begin with—the ability to have socially aware, complex and meaningful conversations. Turkle's groundbreaking research and personal stories show us how we can reclaim conversation. Making the case that conversation is more important than ever, Turkle offers us hope, as well as a way to move forward.

"A must-read for anyone interested in the future of our digital world."

—The New York Times
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 304 PAGES • 978-1-101-98093-4 • $30.00

LUKE DORMEHL
In this exploration of the demise of 20th-century notions of the future, Coupland presents

"One of the most valuable books of the year."

—Columbia Journalism Review
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 432 PAGES • 978-0-399-57580-8 • $27.00

ADAM ALTER
Irresistible: The Rise of Addictive Technology and the Business of Keeping Us Hooked
In this masterful exploration of addiction,Alter explains why we're different—and we’re more addicted than ever. He finds that these products have been designed to meet a powerful—sometimes dangerous—

"In a masterful exploration of addiction,Alter explains why we're more addicted than ever."

—The New York Times
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 304 PAGES • 978-0-14-310981-5 • $18.00

DOUGLAS COUPLAND
Bit Rot: stories + essays
A riveting story of the rise of computer addiction. Coupland presents this fascinating story, revealing the driving force behind Coupland's

"One of the most valuable books of the year."

—Columbia Journalism Review
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 432 PAGES • 978-0-399-57580-8 • $27.00

JON ELSE
True South: Henry Hampton and Eyes on the Prize, the landmark documentary series, filmmaker Henry Hampton overcame enormous obstacles to create the landmark documentary series,

"An intelligent, informed...account of why we can't live comfortably with criticism (in any of its meanings), and can't live without it, either."—The New York Times
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 304 PAGES • 978-0-14-310981-5 • $18.00

LUKE DORMEHL
Bit Rot: The End of Our Digital Eternity
Bit Rot tells the story of the rise of computer addiction. Coupland presents this fascinating story, revealing the driving force behind Coupland's

"One of the most valuable books of the year."

—Columbia Journalism Review
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 432 PAGES • 978-0-399-57580-8 • $27.00

SHERRY TURKLE
Reclaiming Conversation: The Power of Talk in a Digital Age
In this revolutionary look at human communication,Turkle argues, we're losing the skills that made them possible to begin with—the ability to have socially aware, complex and meaningful conversations. Turkle's groundbreaking research and personal stories show us how we can reclaim conversation. Making the case that conversation is more important than ever, Turkle offers us hope, as well as a way to move forward.

"A must-read for anyone interested in the future of our digital world."

—The New York Times
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 304 PAGES • 978-1-101-98093-4 • $30.00

LUKE DORMEHL
In this exploration of the demise of 20th-century notions of the future, Coupland presents

"One of the most valuable books of the year."

—Columbia Journalism Review
PENGUIN PRESS HARDCOVER • 432 PAGES • 978-0-399-57580-8 • $27.00
New Titles • Communication & Media Studies

Better Living Through Criticism
How to Think About Art, Pleasure, and Truth
Drawing on his own work as well as the long tradition of criticism from Aristotle to Susan Sontag, the NYU professor of psychology and marketing tracks the rise of behavioral addiction and explains how we can reclaim face-to-face conversation to help us regain lost ground. "Brilliantly illuminates the new obsessions that are controlling our lives and offers a path out of our digital unintelligibility. Alter is a rare leader who recognizes and unerringly describes the power of conversation, its fragility at present, the consequences of its loss, and the importance of reclaiming talk to reverse the damage done by our new reality—a world in which we are isolated from each other and many of today’s products irresistible. Despite uniting people across miles, e-mail has divided them..." —The American Scholar
JOHN NORRIS

Irresistible: The Rise of Addictive Technology and the Business of Keeping Us Hooked
The XYZ professor of psychology and neuroscience takes us on the ride of a lifetime through the addictive technology industry. Why do these products have been designed to make us so powerless—sometimes depending—on our phones? By reverse engineering behavioral addiction, Alter explains how we can mitigate the slip determination devices your company secretly rewired our brains to fall off, furnishing these products to improve their bottom line at the expense of our lives. "Laudable exploration of one of the most pressing issues of our time..." —Mary McGrory, The Washington Post
ADAM ALTER

MAKING NEW MACHINES
Saying It Out Loud
The Quest for Artiﬁcial Intelligence—and When It’s Taking Us Next
A linguist looks at the current state of Artificial Intelligence from the standpoint of a mindful, critical thinker. The author begins his exploration of the discipline that is building ever more sophisticated machines by offering a sweeping history of the idea of machines that think like humans and of how it has been shaped by military, economic, and social goals. The author speculates on our new reality—a world in which both our intelligence and the systems that we build are created by our brains, our hands, and our society, and in which we do not think to compose intelligent machines.
LUKE DORMEDE KURK, JR. & KARL MARINO

Irresistible: The Rise of Addictive Technology and the Business of Keeping Us Hooked

DOUGLAS COULPLAND

Bit Rot: Stories + Essays
An insider’s view of latter-day American history, this biography tells the story of Washington Post columnist McGrory—the ﬁrst woman to win the Pulitzer Prize for commentary. As newspapers struggle and fade, McGrory's stories shed light on the decade-long erosion of the newsroom and the campaign trail….As newspapers struggle and fade, McGrory—the NYU professor of psychology and marketing tracks the rise of behavioral addiction and explains how we can reclaim face-to-face conversation to help us regain lost ground. "Brilliantly illuminates the new obsessions that are controlling our lives and offers a path out of our digital unintelligibility. Alter is a rare leader who recognizes and unerringly describes the power of conversation, its fragility at present, the consequences of its loss, and the importance of reclaiming talk to reverse the damage done by our new reality—a world in which we are isolated from each other and many of today’s products irresistible. Despite uniting people across miles, e-mail has divided them..." —The American Scholar
ADAM ALTER

MAKING NEW MACHINES
Saying It Out Loud
The Quest for Artiﬁcial Intelligence—and When It’s Taking Us Next
A linguist looks at the current state of Artificial Intelligence from the standpoint of a mindful, critical thinker. The author begins his exploration of the discipline that is building ever more sophisticated machines by offering a sweeping history of the idea of machines that think like humans and of how it has been shaped by military, economic, and social goals. The author speculates on our new reality—a world in which both our intelligence and the systems that we build are created by our brains, our hands, and our society, and in which we do not think to compose intelligent machines.
LUKE DORMEDE KURK, JR. & KARL MARINO
NEW TITLES • COMMUNICATION & MEDIA STUDIES

BETTER LIVING THROUGH CRITICISM
How to Think About Art, Pleasure, and Truth
A. O. SCOTT

Drawing on his own work as well as the long traditions of criticism that define us as human beings, the New York Times drama critic reflects on the value of serious, critical thinking in our increasingly unserious and superficial age. "A brilliant, passionate, and elegant defense of criticism in an era that has grown all too comfortable with its own ennui."

JOHN NORRIS
The Power of Talk in a Digital Age
A fascinating meditation on humanity’s attempts to navigate shitch...In this exploration of the demise of 20th-century notions of the future, Coupland presents

crea

sentence. Coupland presents
NEW TITLES • COMMUNICATION & MEDIA STUDIES

DANIEL J. LEVITIN

Weaponized Lies: How to Think Critically in the Digital Age

This book is a must-read for anyone concerned about the increasing prevalence of fake news and other forms of disinformation in our public discourse. It is a clear and concise guide to understanding the nature of these phenomena, and to developing the skills and strategies needed to think critically and avoid being duped by them.

MICHAEL WOLFF

This book is a fascinating and often hilarious look behind the scenes of the Trump White House. Wolff provides a detailed account of the inner workings of the administration, and the book is sure to be of interest to anyone who wants to understand the Trump presidency from the inside.

SHEILA HEEN

Thanks for the Feedback: The Science of Winning When It Matters Most

This book is a must-read for anyone who wants to improve their ability to receive feedback effectively. It is a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of feedback and developing the skills needed to make the most of it.

DOUGLAS STONE

Receiving Feedback Well: The Definitive Guide to Receiving Feedback from Others

This book is a must-read for anyone who wants to improve their ability to give feedback effectively. It is a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of feedback and developing the skills needed to make the most of it.

STEPHEN WITT

Hit Makers: The Science of Popularity in an Age of Distraction

This book is a fascinating look at the science of how things become popular in the modern era. Witt provides a detailed account of the factors that contribute to the success or failure of a particular idea, product, or event, and offers practical advice for anyone looking to create something that will resonate with a wide audience.

ROGER FISHER, WILLIAM URY, AND BRUCE PATTON

Getting to Yes: Negotiating Agreement Without Giving In

This book is a classic in the field of negotiation. It is a must-read for anyone who wants to improve their ability to negotiate effectively and get the best possible outcome for themselves.

CLAY SHIRKY

Here Comes Everybody

This book is a fascinating look at the rise of the participatory web and the social media revolution. Shirky provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the history and implications of these phenomena, and to developing the skills needed to participate effectively in a world that is increasingly networked.

NEIL POSTMAN

How Technology Is Destroying Your Child’s Mind

This book is a must-read for anyone who is concerned about the impact of technology on children and young people. Postman provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the history and implications of the participatory web, and to developing the skills needed to participate effectively in a world that is increasingly networked.

DIANA BAUMFELD

The Science of Selling: Proven Strategies to Maximize Your Sales Impact

This book is a must-read for anyone who is looking to improve their sales skills. Baumfeld provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of sales and to developing the skills needed to make the most of it.

STEVEN PINKER

The Sense of Style

This book is a must-read for anyone who is looking to improve their writing skills. Pinker provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of writing and to developing the skills needed to make the most of it.

LUCAS MEIER

Jury Duty

This book is a must-read for anyone who is involved in the legal system. Meier provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of jury decision-making and to developing the skills needed to participate effectively in a legal setting.

JONAH LEHRER

An Alternate View of the World: From Horse-Lords to Dark Elves, Reclaiming What We’ve Lost in the Digital Age

This book is a fascinating look at the history of storytelling and the implications of the digital revolution. Lehrer provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of storytelling and to developing the skills needed to participate effectively in a world that is increasingly networked.

CHARLES SEIFFE

Time Traveler: From the Clocks That Brought Us the Future to the Anticipated Environments of the Near Future

This book is a fascinating look at the science of time travel and the implications of the digital revolution. Seiffe provides a clear and practical guide to understanding the science of time travel and to developing the skills needed to participate effectively in a world that is increasingly networked.
NEW TITLES • COMMUNICATION & MEDIA STUDIES

NEW TITLES • COMMUNICATION & MEDIA STUDIES

CLASSROOM FAVORITES

DANIEL J. LEVITIN

Weaponized Lies: How to Think Critically in the Post-Truth Era

ISBN: 978-0-393-35942-7

"A shocking look at how misinformation travels in the digital age and how to protect yourself from it." - The New York Times

SAMUEL ARBESMAN

Overcomplicated: Technology at the Limits of Comprehension

"A masterful explanation of how complex technology can be comprehended, and why we must do a better job of it." - The New York Times

DEREK THOMPSON

Hit Makers: The Science of Popularity in an Age of Distraction

"A fascinating examination of the science behind viral hits, from music to memes, and how they come to define us." - The Wall Street Journal

MICHAEL WOLF

Television Is the New Television: Reality TV, Social Media, and the Future of Entertainment

ISBN: 978-0-393-35501-3

"A compelling look at how the power of television has changed and how it will continue to evolve." - The New York Times

STEPHEN WITT

How Music Got Free: A Story of Obsession and Invention

ISBN: 978-0-393-35502-0

"A fascinating exploration of how the music industry has transformed from a closed, exclusive world to an open, interconnected one." - The Washington Post

DANIEL SHAPIRO

Negotiating the Nonnegotiable: How to Resolve Your Most Emotionally Charged Conflicts

ISBN: 978-0-393-35503-7

"A practical guide to resolving conflicts that seem impossible to win." - The New York Times

---

JON BONSON

So You’ve Been Publicly Shamed: Capture the Entirely New Ways That Singles Communicate, Court, and Fall in Love in the Digital Age

ISBN: 978-0-393-35514-3

"A entertaining and informative look at how social media has changed modern relationships." - The New York Times

NATE SILVER

The Signal and the Noise: Why So Many Predictions Fail—but Some Don’t

ISBN: 978-0-393-35513-6

"A fascinating exploration of how predictive models work and how to use them to make better decisions." - The New York Times

ROGER FISHER, WILLIAM URY, AND BRUCE PATTON

Getting to Yes: Negotiating Agreement Without Giving In

"A timeless guide to effective negotiation that has been used by negotiators around the world." - The New York Times

SHLOMO BENARTZI

The New Era of Digital Deception

ISBN: 978-0-393-35512-9

"A fascinating look at how digital technologies are changing the way we communicate and deceive each other." - The New York Times

---

PATTON, STEVE POWERS, and JOHN NEFFINGER

The 17 Principles of Persuasion Decisions, and Close the Deal

"A practical guide to effective communication and decision-making in the digital age." - The New York Times

---

DIANA CASPERSSEN

Changing the Conversation: How to Use the Science of Persuasion to Drive Change and Influence the World

"A fascinating exploration of how to use persuasion to drive change in the digital age." - The New York Times

---

DIANA STONE

Blue Light, White Light: How Blue-Light Blocking Glasses Can Improve Your Sleep, Productivity, and Well-Being

ISBN: 978-0-393-35515-6

"A fascinating exploration of how blue light can affect your sleep and well-being." - The New York Times

---

DIANA STONE

The Smarter Screen: How to Use Light to Transform Your Mind and Your Life

ISBN: 978-0-393-35516-3

"A fascinating exploration of how light can affect your mind and well-being." - The New York Times